Notes:

- Municipal Plans

- Hinesburg does not currently have a duly adopted and confirmed municipal plan. However, CCRPC will be formally reviewing the plan for regional approval and confirmation of the planning process at CCRPC’s December 10, 2025 Planning Advisory Committee meeting. It is anticipated that the CCRPC Board of Directions will make a decision regarding regional approval of the municipal plan and confirmation of the planning process in February 2026.
- The Town of Charlotte’s plan expires on March 6, 2026, and the local planning process anticipates readoption in November of 2026, when the community votes on the plan. It is likely that Charlotte will not have an adopted plan that is regionally approved and confirmed by the time the LURB conducts final review of CCRPC’s plan in June or July 2026.
- The town plans for Milton and St. George will expire in the next six months. CCRPC expects that they have ample time to obtain regional approval and confirmation of the planning process before the LURB’s final review of CCRPC’s plan.

- ECOS Plan - Web Page Links

- Please note that the ECOS Plan contains several links to a new ECOS Plan web page. This web page will be published in early November 2025. Until that time, the links in the plan will not work.
