Good Morning TRORC

I have several questions on the remaining review process for the TRORC Regional Plan. As was evident in the July 28 Public Hearing in Bethel, there is a lot of public confusion over this, and I still cannot find any clear timeline or process. Our Town, Planning Commission, TRORC board member, and others including myself remain unclear on the remaining process. More specifically:

- 1) On your web site you say "First hearing comments and emails were due Monday, August 10. All types of comments received by 8/10 are logged here.", however the linked document doesn't include any of the dozens of comments received at the public hearings. When will those be incorporated into your "Responsiveness Document" and when will that be made public?
- 2) The web site further states "Staff responses will be prepared for Board consideration by the end of August and will be included in a Responsiveness Document then". Will this document be publicly available on the web site? When will the board take it under consideration and how much time will they have to review it?
- 3) Will there be a public comment period for responses to the proposed resolutions? Considering the massive number of comments, it seems only appropriate to have ample public review of the proposed resolutions.
- 4) Does the board then vote to approve or ammend TRORC's proposed responses contained in the Responsiveness Document? If so, when is that meeting and vote? Or is there some other way in which the proposed resolution of public comments gets ratified?
- 5) The web site then states "A final (second) hearing draft will be created for our Board to review and then it will be available for public comment 30 days before the second hearing this fall". See comment #4 asking how it's decided what changes will be made to address public comments. When will this be available to board members? When is this second hearing, and how is it carried out? How will towns be involved and input solicited?
- 6) The web site says "You can find all meetings and hearings on our calendar, along with their Zoom links", however none of these milestones, hearings, or board meeting topics are there.

Thank you and I look forward to clarification on this process so that we can participate in a meaningful way,

Peter Hayden
